Description

Even with the best laid plans, life can take an unexpected turn. For this reason, it is vital to ensure that your loved ones are provided for in the event of your death or being off work for a long period due to accident or illness. The financial difficulties that may be encountered from the loss of your income can normally be avoided at little expense. At Edgewater Associates, we offer advice on a wide range of products designed to protect you, your family and even your business from financial uncertainty. An accident or ill-health may prevent you from working, but we can ensure your finances stay healthy.
