BUILDING SOLID BUSINESS RELATIONSHIPS

G.A. Paper makes a conscientious effort to understand and to serve the specific needs of our suppliers and customers. It is our attention to detail and dedication that has helped us become the leader we are in the field. G.A. Paper strives to offer the best possible solutions for both suppliers and customers. We are able to achieve this primarily through effective logistics management that takes into account the unique cost and operational requirements of every order. We work with transportation companies, warehouses and ports to facilitate transactions across the globe.

AT THE FOREFRONT OF DEVELOPING MARKETS

Our business has grown alongside that of our customers, who in turn recognize our dedication to effectively manage the unique challenges of each situation. We have carved a niche for ourselves in various developing markets across the globe, with particular focus on South America, Africa, Middle East and the Indian Subcontinent. Localized expertise in the unique economic, political and geographic considerations of each of these locations has allowed us to broaden the volume and scope of our business dealings in these markets. For our suppliers, we offer the opportunity to actively participate in developing markets without assuming the associated risks.

For our customers, we provide access to products which may not be readily available for their markets.

SHIPPING AND LOGISTICS

G.A. Paper works diligently with sales managers across multiple product divisions to seek out the most suitable freight options for your needs, and to negotiate competitive shipping rates on your behalf. Each sales representative is fully versed in every intricacy of the shipping process, and is also supported by a team of experienced shipping and logistics experts. We have an in-depth knowledge of the various logistical considerations of raw materials procurement and align ourselves with the various stakeholders – such as warehouses, shipping companies, and port authorities – to offer the most efficient solutions for both suppliers and customers. We are committed to assessing every option, rather than simply accepting the status quo. Whether this means employing different load ports, load patterns or transportation methods, such as break bulk instead of containers. Our complete end-to-end shipping service also includes the monitoring of your cargo, both at load and at discharge, enabling us to effectively manage potential dangers and risks during transportation. This allows us to offer you a complete suite of shipping options – from single container shipments to fully chartered vessels. Our logistics team has
